German African Business Summit (GABS)

The German African Business Summit (GABS) stands as Germany's signature business event in Africa. Every two years, GABS brings together leading business and government figures from Germany and Sub-Saharan Africa to foster and advance economic ties between Europe's largest economy and the world's fastest-growing region. This summit is organized by the Sub-Saharan Africa Initiative of German Business (SAFRI) and is presided over by SAFRI Chairman Thomas Schaefer.

The GABS 2024 in Nairobi is where German and African business interests converge, where economic partnerships between Germany and Sub-Saharan Africa are reinforced, and where business trends and market opportunities are explored.

Sub-Saharan Africa Initiative of German Business (SAFRI)

The Sub-Saharan Africa Initiative of German Business (SAFRI) is the voice of German business to policy-makers in Germany and the Sub-Saharan African region. The objective of SAFRI is to intensify co-operation with the countries of Sub-Saharan Africa and to foster mutual trade and investment. SAFRI is supporting the dialogue between German and African business and industry and providing a platform of exchange for German and African partners.

SAFRI is a joint initiative of leading business federations – the German-African Business Association (AV), the Federation of German Industries (BDI), the Federation of German Wholesale, Foreign Trade and Services (BGA) and the German Chambers of Commerce and Industry (DIHK).
